Camper found after 21 hour search

by Andrew Milne

A 17 year old camper with functional autism, who went missing from a Haliburton area camp last week, was found early the next afternoon.

Jean Luc Renault, of Hamilton, wandered off from Camp Samac around 2:30 pm last Thursday. He was found 21 hours later, nearly seven miles away from where he'd last been seen.

He suffered a mild case of hypothermia, and some minor scratches from the ordeal.

OPP canine units, search and rescue crews, volunteers from the camp and a police helicopter were deployed in the search. Renault was first spotted, however, by the driver of a Kawartha Dairy truck making a delivery via an access road to a neighbouring camp, the Haliburton Scout Reserve.

Driver Grant Hutchinson says that though he had heard there was a search on, he didn't realize at first he had seen the missing person. Renault didn't signal for help, and seemed to be avoiding being seen.

"When I went by him, he sort of stepped back behind the bushes, so I took a good look at him," says Hutchinson.

"But it's one of those things. You don't stop and ask everyone you see if they're lost. And I know if I were lost in the bush you couldn't get the truck past me."

However, when Hutchinson stopped to drop off his delivery, he told staff at that camp what he had seen. Scouts from the Reserve were also involved in the search.

Says Hutchinson, "The guys were saying about this guy being missing, and all the scouts were out looking for him. I said I'd seen one guy walking in the road. They asked me what he looked like, and I described him.

"They said, 'That's him!'," says Hutchinson, laughing. "So I took two of the guys back out, and they looked around. They didn't see him at first, so I dropped them off, and I guess they found him a little after that."

Camp Samac is run by the Oshawa district of Scouts Canada. The district's executive director Alan Freeman described himself as relieved Renault had been found.

"It's every camp director's worst nightmare, having a child go missing," he said, as rescue personnel pulled out of the camp Friday. "But he's okay now, and we're all feeling a lot better."

Renault came to the camp with 18 other autistic children, on a field trip from the Woodview school, a Hamilton area facility.

Persons with autisms are often unresponsive, or unpredictably responsive to other people, generally uncommunicative, and may or may not have language skills.

"It's quite possible he wasn't even aware of the danger he was in," said Freeman. "We may never know."

Sergeant Art Goard, of the OPP, said it was hard to know if

Hospital Board, unions negotiating over ambulance personnel staffing proposal

by Andrew Milne

Minden hospital's administration met last week with representatives of three employee groups over a plan to have ambulance crews stationed at the hospital.

Representatives of CUPE, and the ONA, representing registered practical nurses and registered nurses respectively, will be considering a proposal from management, and responding this Thursday.

Administration has also met with OPSEU, which represents the ambulance drivers.

The plan to station ambulance crews at the hospital is an effort to continue running the facility's emergency ward on a 24 hour basis, but reduce costs.

The local board which recently took over the hospital says it is considering the move because it cannot afford to run a deficit.

The board of Haliburton Highlands Health Services (HHHS) was newly incorporated this year, and has no reserves. Both the HHHS' hospitals — the Minden and Haliburton hospitals — like hospitals throughout rural Ontario, have been running deficits for years.

Hospital administrator and executive director, Foster Loucks, says he is well aware there are labour issues to be considered here, and he understands fully that the unions need to take some time to consider the ramifications.

Says Loucks, "The issue will be whether the proposed model I'm talking about impinges on what is in the collective agreement known as work of the bargaining unit. Will in fact the ambulance attendants, as well as the doctors, be doing the work of the [nurses'] bargaining units... And they have to look at the broader provincial issues. The stakes are fairly high."

The proposal, said Loucks, includes a 'without prejudice' clause, which, in lay terms, means roughly that an agreement from the unions to try this for a set period shouldn't, in management's opinion, have any bearing on later negotiations or on negotiations

Petition tops 1,300 signatures

A petition to bring the OPP back to Minden is getting tremendous support in Haliburton County. The petition was started three weeks ago and the list of signatures has grown to 1,300.

Organizer Lynda Burley said there are petitions in various locations around the county.

"The response has been really good," Burley said.

The petitions will be collected after the Labour Day Weekend, to be delivered to MPP Chris Hodgson's office by no later than September 13.

Anyone interested in signing the petition may do so at any of the following locations:

Minden - Novel Ideas, Village Chalet and Family Restaurant, The Art Affect Gallery, Godfather's Pizza and Lil' Bitza Bargains.

Stanhope Township - Maple Lake Store, Stanhope Municipal Office, Buckslide Tent and Trailer Park, Little Hawk Resort and Oakview Lodge.

Due to the Labour Day holiday the next edition of The Times will appear September 3. Deadlines for display and classified advertising remain the same. Best wishes for a safe and enjoyable holiday weekend.

MCS representative makes presentation to AHM council

Recycler thanks council for business, offers tour of facility

Donald Coates of Muskoka Containerized Services (MCS) attended the Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting to present an update on the services provided by his company. Coates also extended an invitation to council members to tour the facility in Bracebridge.

MCS celebrated its 25th anniversary this year. The business started in 1971 with one truck, serving industrial, commercial, institutional and municipal markets. The business has expanded to include recycling of materials such as asphalt shingles, which are remanufactured into new shingles, and wood waste, which is ground and used for such material as particle board. MCS also operates a 30,000 square foot composting facility in Bracebridge.

An average of 25 to 30 per cent of materials can be diverted from landfill sites and in some cases, as much as 71 to 91 per cent of household waste materials have been diverted from landfill sites and into recycling programs. In 1995, MCS developed the first residential co-collection project in Canada, whereby one vehicle is used for the collection of waste and recyclables.

Coates told council that Anson, Hindon and Minden has produced 1,200 cubic yards of recyclable material over the past 12 months. MCS is capable of handling everything from plastics and paper to household hazardous waste. Coates said a total of 25 or 26 different materials can be processed, including tar and gravel roofing, styrofoam, concrete and brick.

Councillor Grant Plooard asked Coates if he thought recycling would ever get to the point where it would cover the cost to the municipality.

Coates pointed out that recycling is a volatile business, citing the prices being paid for cardboard last year.

"The worst thing that ever happened to the recycling business was cardboard going to $300 a ton," Coates said, adding that it has since levelled off at a much more realistic $80 per ton.

Coates pointed out that market preparation, or the handling of materials before they are delivered to the potential buyer, is critical. He said he has seen a truck load of glass rejected because it contained a piece of broken ceramic.

Reeve Jeanne Anthon questioned Coates about recent claims that recyclable material from Toronto are ending up in landfill sites in spite of people's efforts to sort and properly dispose of them. Coates replied that any such cases are probably the result of improper handling.

"It doesn't happen with us," he assured Anthon.

User fee decision deferred

Chair of the committee of Anson, Hindon and Minden council to study the issue of trailer lot and home business licences, Jerry Rome, wants to sit on the fence for a month. Rome told council at Thursday's meeting, that legal challenges have been mounted against other municipalities which have imposed trailer lot user fees.

"I think we should wait and see what happens with other court challenges," he said.

Councillor Daryl Moore didn't agree.

"I don't think we should hold back," he said. "It could go on for years."

The matter will be deferred until information can be circulated to all members of council so they will better understand the implications of the issue.

St. Paul's congregation moves into parish hall

Church officials decide to err on the side of caution

by Andrew Milne

The congregation of St. Paul's of Minden has ceased using the church for services, following a building inspection.

Among its findings, the inspection revealed a number of defects in the foundation, the roof, and structural walls.

The building inspector, says parish rector Brian Parker, did not instruct the church to discontinue use of the structure. That was a decision the executive took on its own. However, he says, the inspector did say he felt the decision was wise.

Parker also stressed in an interview last week that it would be overreacting to suggest there is significant danger of collapse. Rather, he said, the church has simply chosen to err on the side of caution.

The church will be holding its services for the immediate future in an adjoining church hall, built much later than the original structure in which the defects were found.

A more precise engineer's report, to be completed in the next few months, he says, should shed more light on the problem, giving the congregation a more accurate picture of its options. Any work that report requires be done on the main building will be completed before the congregation returns.

The official notice from the church's executive reads, "We wish to convey the very important fact that the building was neither condemned nor officially closed. The executive is simply taking this step out of concern for the people who worship at St. Paul's, and all who use the facility."

The executive has also informed groups who make use of the church hall of the situation, and that they may continue to use the hall.

The building, around 130 years old, is among the oldest church buildings in use in the area.

The inspection is one of a series of inspections the Anglican Diocese of Toronto has ordered for all church buildings in the diocese. Those inspections, to be completed by the year 2000, were prompted by the discovery during earlier renovations of other buildings that they were unsound.

An earlier such inspection, conducted on St. George's in Haliburton, a slightly older building, also found serious structural problems, despite recent renovations. That congregation was told by the inspector not to use the building.

Asked if the discovery had been upsetting to the congregation, Parker responded, "To a certain extent it's upsetting. I think it's also exciting because it opens up a number of opportunities for us for working into the future of the church in our area... I think God is giving us an opportunity on a golden platter here. It's what we do with it that's going to be important.

"We are waiting," he said later, "for the engineer's report, and to see where God leads us."

AH&M buys 90-acre buffer at Scotch Line landfill site

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has purchased 90 acres of land next to the Scotch Line landfill site. The purchase price was $20,000.

The land, which is only accessible from the Scotch Line landfill property, is intended as an extended buffer zone.

Public Works superintendent Clayton Cameron, said that the acquisition won't necessarily extend the life of the existing landfill site. If the municipality wanted to expand the Scotch Line landfill site onto the newly acquired land, Cameron said it would have to go through the same process as is necessary to establish a new dump.

Life expectancy of the Scotch Line landfill site is another 40 years.

No dumping in parks

The municipality will be putting up signs at local parks advising that it is illegal to dump household garbage in park garbage containers.

Councillor Grant Plooard doesn't think signs will do much to alleviate the problem.

"I think people know it's illegal and they're going to do it anyway," he said. "It's people who are too lazy to go to the dump. They just stop at a park and drop off their garbage."

BETTER SAFE THAN SORRY: St. Paul's Anglican Church rector Brian Parker is taking the news that the church is in need of repairs in stride. He sees the situation as "an exciting opportunity." He said church officials are "waiting for the engineer's report and to see where God leads us."

Dazzled by a year in Europe

by Misty Bennett

The Rotary Student Exchange Program has become a very popular topic of conversation recently, especially at this time of year. Students are preparing to leave for foreign countries while others are returning with stories of friendships and an entirely different perspective of the world.

Teenager Bryn Gray is among those. He returned July 10 after spending the past year abroad. Bryn was in the town of Tenneville, in the southern region of Belgium. His participation in the program was sponsored by the Rotary Club of Haliburton.

Gray found that he was close to the major cities of Europe and took advantage of that fact by visiting many of them by train. Liege was about 45 minutes away and Brussels an hour and a half.

"Trains in Europe are really fast and it's a very easy way to travel. The trains run every hour, so it was really convenient," says Gray.

There were six exchange students being hosted by Gray's Rotary Club. They saw each other often, even though they attended different schools. Most of the exchange students at his host club were from the southern hemisphere.

Gray's school had a combined population of about 1,000 students. The schools in Belgium are separated into two sections, technical and regular. He attended the regular school.

Gray found the schools to be much stricter than in Canada. Another difference was the lack of extra curricular activities.

"We had to stand when the teachers entered the room. There was more respect given to the teachers in Belgium. Here teachers and students are more friendly with each other," says Gray.

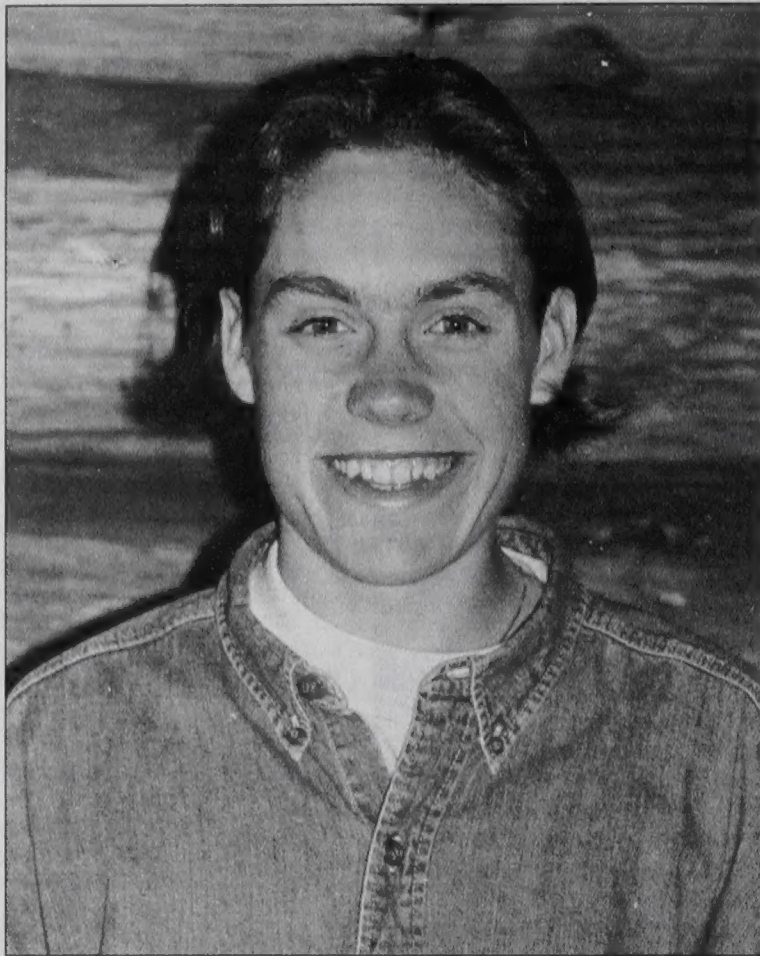

Class sizes are similar to those of Canadian schools, but there are more options offered in class selection and time allotted to each subject.

The classes last all year and there are two sets of exams, one at Christmas and another in June. In Belgium students attend school for 12 years, excluding post-secondary education. The first six years are devoted to primary school with secondary school in the remaining years.

Gray has always been interested in taking part in the Rotary student exchange program.

"I talked to so many exchange students and they all seemed to have such a good time. I knew there was no better organization than Rotary to do it with, if I was going to go on exchange," he says.

Gray does admit that it was difficult at the beginning. He was battling homesickness and the fact that he had just been placed with a family that didn't speak

Bryn Gray, back from a year in Belgium. His participation in the Rotary Student Exchange program gave him an opportunity to visit many of the popular attractions of Europe.

English, did not make things easier.

"By about the third month, you have a pretty good handle on the language. Time flies by so fast. You really have to do as much as you can in the time you have left."

Gray chose Belgium as his destination because of the language, French, and its central European location.

"There are a lot of students that have gone there and many that have come here from Belgium. It sounded like a great place to go and it really was," says Gray.

"It was a nice small country. It was interesting to compare a small country like Belgium with a large one like Canada. You could travel to any part of Belgium easily in a matter of hours."

The climate is wetter and the winter is not as harsh as Canada's. Gray says that they probably only had about a week of snow in Tenneville. The temperature did drop, but was not as cold as here, with lows around

-5 degrees Celsius.

"The summer was just as hot as it gets here and the winter was milder," says Gray.

The biggest difference Gray noted in the comparison between Canada and Belgium, was the country's strong sense of history. "Everything seems to be so old in Belgium. I had a chance to see castles and churches built in the 15th century. We just don't have stuff like that here," says Gray.

While in Belgium, Gray stayed with three host families. His first and third host families knew a lot about the exchange program because their children were also taking part.

In Belgium the parents of outgoing exchange students are obligated to welcome an incoming student into their homes.

Gray had 'brothers' and 'sisters' in all of his host families, and in two of them the children went to the same school as he did.

One of the most appealing parts for the exchange for Gray was the amount of travelling he was able to do. He spent a lot of time visiting numerous European cities, monuments and towns.

While in Europe, he visited France, England, Germany, the Netherlands and Czechoslovakia. He managed to stop at the Euro-Disney theme park, went skiing in the French Alps, visited the sites of World War II battles, and many other points of interest throughout Europe.

On the European bus tour, organized by the Rotary Clubs for all the visiting exchange students, Gray visited: Munich, Prague, Czechoslovakia, Vienna and Salzburg, Austria, Venice and Florence, Italy and Nice, Monaco and Lyon, France.

In addition to guided tours of the cities, the students were free to explore on their own. Close to 200 exchange students took part in the trip, in groups of 50. The groups arrived in the city separately so as not to overwhelm their hosts.

Gray hopes to return to Europe some day, but for now he will be concentrating on finishing high school.

"There are lots of places I'd like to go back and see again, but I just can't afford it," says Gray.

During the coming year he will be enrolled in grade 11 and 12 classes, and will graduate with his peers following his OAC year.

To anyone considering the Rotary Student Exchange Program, Gray has this to say: "Go for it. It's the most amazing experience anyone could ever have. It's tough in the beginning, but you have to have the bad experiences to know what the good ones are."

Executive attempt to will broker deal with union representatives

elsewhere.

The plan is probably unique to Ontario. The board has given Loucks the go-ahead to broker a deal in which ambulance personnel are present in the hospital during the night shift, from 8 pm to 8 am. Nurses, however, would not be present for the night shift, except on an on-call basis. Doctors would be present 24 hours.

It isn't necessarily long-term yet with or without any difficulties the unions might have. The board wants to try this for the month of September, then review how well it works, both in terms of quality of service and in terms of cost.

Union representatives from the ONA and CUPE said last week that discussing details of the proposal would be inappropriate at this time. However, says Gwen Hewitt of CUPE, her union is looking at it, albeit with reservations. And most of those reservations, she says, come down to practicality. They haven't had much time to look at it, and there are more than a few things to worry about.

Says Hewitt, "Friday was actually the first opportunity we've had to sit down with Foster, with the doctors and ONA and actually get the information firsthand. There are certainly some difficulties to work through... It's difficult. We're mindful of the needs of the community, but we also have a responsibility to the employees. We're trying to balance the two.

"At this point, I really don't know what we're going to table... I think frankly the issues that were raised Friday at the meeting by both ONA and CUPE weren't just labour issues. There are actual practical issues as to how feasible this is, labour issues aside... There are a lot of those issues. And I honestly don't believe that a lot of them have been worked through."

Loucks believes, however, that it can work. And he's hoping he'll get the chance to try it. He acknowledges that there are risks here for all the groups — particularly the doctors, as groups with traditionally smaller roles assume more responsibility — but he thinks it's well worth trying.

Says Loucks, "I'm trying to make the case that this is the way we should consider it, and that as part of trying to develop a new model for health services in rural Ontario all of these players — each of the unions I've mentioned, plus our board, plus the physicians — should be sitting down and seeing if we can't come up with a way of moving past the historic roles, agreeing to the appropriate level of training. There should be a role for everybody, and if anything an enhanced role."

The board is hoping to have its experiment in place by Labour Day.

Canning Lake Fun Day

Canning Lake hosted its annual Fun Day at the baseball diamond park in Ingoldsby, earlier this month.

Many fun activities were organized for kids and adults alike. The Fun Day was well attended and if all the smiling faces tell the story, then everyone was having a great time.

Children were involved with the parachute almost upon arrival, as the kids kicked off the afternoon. Below, the kids are seen bouncing the volleyball as high as possible using teamwork and the parachute.

Parents and grandparents were out in full force, as well, to ensure that everyone had a good time. The grandfather/granddaughter team, at the right, head for the other side of the course in the lifejacket relay.

The OPP helicopter was called in for a search for missing camper Jean Luc Renault last week.

Truck driver spotted missing youth seven miles from Scout Reserve

Renault's autism complicated the search.

"Anyone," he said, "who's been lost in the bush that long would be hard to predict."

Freeman concurred. He was grateful nonetheless for the input of the staff from Woodview, who, he says were able to provide insight into how to approach the situation.

Freeman also had high praise for everyone else who participated in the search as well.

"I can't say enough about them," he said. "I'd really like to thank them — the OPP, the search and rescue people, everyone. Their professionalism really made things happen."

Renault first went missing during an outdoor activity similar to hide and seek. Camp staff conducted their own search shortly after, at around 3:15. Unable to find him, they contacted the OPP at around 6:00 pm.

The Haliburton County Search and Rescue team brought to the scene was, however, also unable to find Renault, and the search continued on through the night and the next morning, until Hutchinson spotted him.

Renault was examined by a doctor at the Haliburton Scout Reserve, and released to his parents.

It was a long night for senior scouts involved in the search. Terry Shewchuk and Roger Lelievre, two of Samac's personnel, were directing search personnel on the trail systems into the early hours of the morning, and have the blisters to prove it.

Says Lelievre, "We've practised for things like this, but it's different when it's for real."

*Make a Move For Health: Discover Active Living in Haliburton CountyHealth Unit launches Healthy Living Campaign

by Misty Bennett

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit kicked off its new healthy living campaign last week with a celebration, of sorts, at the Bandshell in Haliburton.

The Health Unit launched its new booklet entitled: Make A Move For Health: Discover Active Living in Haliburton County. This booklet encourages people to get active by participating in one of the many organized sports or recreational activities we have available in the county.

A number of guests were at Head Lake Park to help launch the booklet, including: Leslie Orpana, Director of Nutrition and Health Promotion and Dr. Alex Hukowich, Medical Officer of Health, both from the Health Unit. As well, Bjorn Neilson, a representative of the Ministry of Citizenship, Culture and Recreation and Murray Fearry, Warden of Haliburton County were present.

Dorothy Milne and a few of the Stanhope Line Dancers were also on hand to give a demonstration and get the audience involved in some fun, physical activity.

The Health Unit stresses the necessity to remain active and help avoid many health problems such as: osteoporosis, heart disease, some cancers and symptoms of depression and anxiety.

The booklets are available throughout the county and can be picked up at the Health Unit, any one of the Municipal Offices, the Library, the Community Centre, the Chamber of Commerce and at a variety of medical offices.

"Think active, get active and live active," is the motto of the active living campaign.

*Showing how it's

The Stanhope Line Dancers, with caller Dorothy Milne, lead the audience through the motions of the simplified Achy Breaky dance.

The right thing

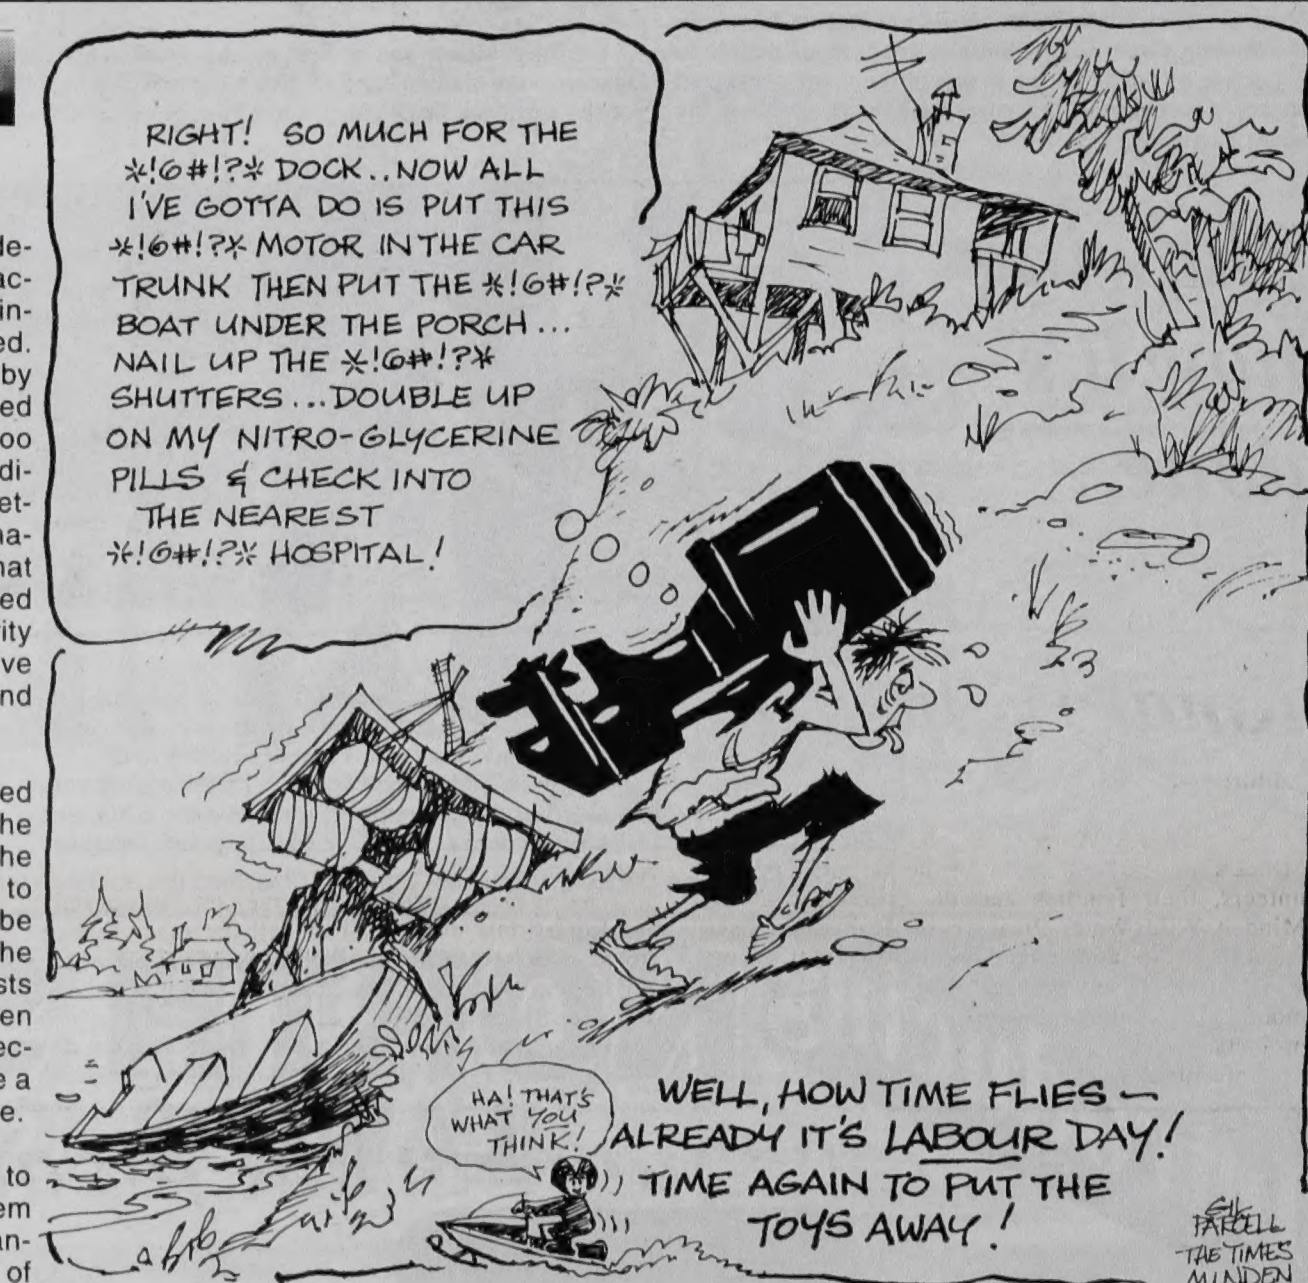

Thirty years ago, the people of Canada decided that all citizens should be entitled to access to health care no matter what their income, their place of residence or their need. The national health care system, supported by both senior levels of government, recognized that the health of the nation's citizens was too important, both to the nation and to the individuals, to be left to the whims of the marketplace. The framers of the government-run national health program acknowledged that universal access to health services provided citizens with security at a time when security was most needed. It removed the profit motive from a service that should be about caring and healing. It was the right thing to do.

Today the health system which has served this country well is under attack at both the federal and provincial levels. We are told the system is too expensive, there is a need to create a two tier system and services must be reduced. So far, any arguments related to the health system have focused on the high costs and the spiralling salaries. Lost in these often reasonable-sounding calls for cut backs is recognition of the why Canadian chose to create a universal health care system in the first place.

One need only look to the United States to see what can happen with a two tiered system of health services. Millions of Americans cannot afford health insurance and live in fear of requiring major medical treatment; the infant mortality rate is more than a third higher than Canada; those who are covered by insurance find their choice of doctors limited while the doctors find the insurance companies dictating the treatments they can perform; those who must pay for the services, especially in cases of a serious disease, are quickly driven into bankruptcy.

Equal access to all health care services by all citizens of Canada is the most common item mentioned by Americans when asked what they admire most about this country. Universality must surely be one of the major reasons United Nations studies has consistently placed Canada among the most desirable places in the world in which to live. But more importantly, as those who created the Canada's health system recognized from the beginning, it is the right thing to do.

The time has come for the citizens of this country to reclaim control of their health care system and refuse to let politicians, drug companies bureaucrats or medical professionals rob us of one of the most important aspects of Canadian society. (More on this subject later)

Museum time appreciated

Editor:

I've surely enjoyed this summer's 'extra time' volunteering at the County Town Museum. I have also enjoyed taking in some of the special programs including speakers and demonstrations.

After September 1, the facility is only open Friday and Saturday until Thanksgiving. The annual draw, for a willow chair or side table, will conclude on Thanksgiving weekend.

Thank you to the many people who visited at the museum.

Many hands make sign work

Re: Artist and Designer of the Minden Gateway Signs

Early in 1994, the Minden Area Business Association held a design contest for concepts for the new Minden signs. It was advertised in local papers. Haliburton County artist Andy Hillo's design was chosen and Andy was given a nominal award. The fabrication contract was awarded to Tara Lowe based on the high quality of her reference work, reasonable price, and her willingness to donate a significant portion of her time.

Some of the original MABA members worked for months to get this project off the ground, pounded the sidewalks, ran an auction, raffles, and held a dance to raise over $5,000 in the first year. These volunteers were: France Rochat, Dale Merrill, Dan & Marilyn Mills, Bob Patton, Frances Beaton, Jeanne Anthon,

The Times welcomes signed letters to the editor on subjects of interest to our readers. Short letters are most likely to be chosen for publication, but the use of any material is at the discretion of the editor. The editor reserves the right to edit letters to meet space requirements, for clarity or to avoid obscenity, libel or invasion of privacy.

Upon request, names may be withheld, but only very rarely and for compelling reasons. Letters published do not necessarily reflect the editorial policies or beliefs of this newspaper. All letters must bear the handwritten signature of the writer and include the address and phone number for verification purposes.

As the summer draws to an end, we look back on an extremely busy and interesting season at the Minden County Town Museum complex. Each day of the summer saw an interesting program presented by someone from the community with a special interest or skill to share. Without the volunteers, these programs would not have been possible. However, without the coordinator, Marvella Smith, it is likely the summer would not have been as busy and rich as it was. So hats off to the many volunteers who stepped forward to help and especially to Marvella, (seen at the right with two museum friends), for a great summer.

Rotary ripped off

Editor:

On Saturday August 17, the Rotary Club of Minden set up a food booth for the participants, volunteers, their families and the spectators at the Minden Wild Water Preserve on Horseshoe Lake Road One. Operating a food booth is one of the many ways Rotary or any other service club uses to raise money that would be donated to worthy community projects.

Unfortunately, it was with utter disbelief that myself and other Rotarians discovered that sometime during the Saturday night and Sunday morning some person or persons decided that our belongings were more valuable to them than to the Minden Rotary Club.

The items stolen included one propane grill with two side burners for cooking, one propane BBQ, two full propane tanks, one large blue tarp and a garbage container.

What is really unfortunate is the fact that not only has Rotary lost out, but so do all the other service clubs, associations and charitable organizations which would borrow these items to assist them in raising funds for the community.

Only due to the perseverance of my colleagues, did we manage to turn a bleak situation into a successful endeavour, and we were able to serve the community and raise money for a future cause.

To the culprits, we have informed the Ontario Provincial Police since it is a police matter, and the club will press for an indictment. To the public, the police informed us that stolen property will likely show up at a yard sale or an auction. If you see the above mentioned articles, please do not hesitate to call the Minden OPP or myself at 286-2036. Your assistance would be appreciated.

Yours truly, in Rotary:

President,

...anything but late for dinner

What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name, would smell as sweet

Shakespeare

Well, there are roses and then there are roses, Bill. Take the Pantone Colour Institute of New Jersey. Pantone comes up with names for paint colours and they don't mess with simple minded concepts like red, blue and yellow. Pantone creates concoctions like "terra firma" (brown); "vintage claret" (dark red); "angel wink pink" and "orange you happy".

Silly, you think? Not very. Last year one paint company took all its "off-white" paint tins off the shelves and re-dubbed them "antique silk". Sales more than doubled.

Names are important. And not just for paint cans. Ask Dick Assman how important a name is.

Up until a year or so ago, Dick Assman was an unheralded gas pump jockey at a Petro-Canada station on the outskirts of Regina.

Then David Letterman discovered him. The inherent absurdity of Mister Assman's name struck a resounding chord in the anal-retentive humour quadrant of Letterman's brain and Dick Assman became a running gag on the Letterman show. Each week dopey Dave would relate some tidbit about Dick Assman and the studio audience (whose humour threshold is even less demanding than Letterman's) would roar with approval.

Dick Assman was famous. The ultimate butt of the Letterman wit, as it were.

Letterman should get out more. There are lots of funnier names than Dick Assman's around - some of them already famous. Anybody remember the president of Zimbabwe, one Reverend Canaan Banana? How about the Archbishop of Manila - Cardinal Sin?

I'm not making these up, you know.

Rock stars have foisted some memorable monikers on an unsuspecting public. Z.Z. Top and Iggy Stooze, Syd Vicious and Johnny Rotten come to mind. Some pop icons have even extended their zaniness to the second generation. British singer David Bowie crowned his son Zowie.

Zowie Bowie. There's a kid that'll need either a great sense of humour or a wicked right cross.

Frank Zappa named his kids Dweezil and Moon Unit. What was the guy smoking?

Sport has always been a haven of wacky handles. Baseball gave us

Thurman Munson.
Hockey produced Sheldon Kanagaiser.

And does the great quarterback Y.A. Tittle? His full name was Yelberton Abraham Tittle.

Some kids obviously had sadists for parents. There's a fisherman in Warsaw, New York who answers (reluctantly) to the name of Dennis Elbow. There's a farmer in Kentucky who's driver's license identifies him as Henry Ford Carr and a society dame in Houston Texas who's real name is Ima Hogg.

If you live in Los Angeles you can have your legal work taken care of by an attorney named Lake Trout (and yes, he had a brother named Brook).

As for magnificent rolling names - how about Humperdinck Fangboner? He's a lumber dealer in Sandusky, Ohio - married to Fanny Fangboner. And then there's the firewood salesman in Cambridge Massachusetts - Mister Vestibule.

Mister Marmalade P. Vestibule.

The most outrageous name of all time? You'd have to go some to beat the son born to John Brook, in New York in 1860, a centennial year. Mister Brook, who loved attending performances at the John Hodge Opera House and manufactured gargling oil, also supported Samuel J. Tilden who was running for the U.S. Presidency.

So naturally, Mister Brook christened his son John Hodge Opera House Centennial Gargling Oil Samuel J. Tilden Ten Brook.

His friends called him "Buck".

Names. My favourite story about weird names comes from a weirdly named chap - the comedian Groucho Marx.

"Groucho!" a stranger snorted to him one time, "surely that's not your real name!"

"Of course not," said Groucho, wagging his caterpillar eyebrows. "I'm just breaking it in for a friend."

Minden boasts some of the world's most determined volunteers.

The project faltered during the winter of '95. Fortunately, a persistent core of business people decided to continue this worthwhile project and see it to completion. This would not have been achieved without the financial assistance from local businesses, service clubs, the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden, many donations from citizens within our community, and the newly formed Minden Economic Development Committee.

We would also like to acknowledge the physical labour that was required to prepare the two site locations, which included the installation of the hydro poles (Minden Roads Department), the erecting of the signs by local timber craftsmen, Al Reed and Steve Smith, Clayton Cameron and the Minden Roads Department.

To date, all financial obligations have been addressed. To put this project to rest, landscaping and staining of the support poles is required, and presentation of certificates in recognition to the major financial contributors. There will be a formal thank you to all contributors in The Times within the next few weeks.

Initial response so favourable, second session planned

Outdoors-Woman course offered again

The popularity of an outdoors course for women, held in May, has resulted in the organization of a second program in September.

On Mother's Day Weekend, May 1996, over 100 women gathered at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre near Dorset, for the first Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters' (OFAH) Becoming an Outdoors-Woman (BOW) program.

"Response to the program was nothing short of extraordinary, and there's just no way we can stop now," says BOW co-ordinator Freya Long, who announced registration for a fall session of the program. Women from a wide spectrum of backgrounds can sign up for courses ranging from shotgunning to canoeing and fly fishing. Among participants last May were sisters, mothers and daughters, grandmothers and granddaughters.

Cheryl Roberto of Dorset was one of the participants in the inaugural BOW program.

"I enjoyed it immensely," she said. "They put a tremendous amount of effort into it. The program was incredibly well organized and the instructors (most of whom were women) were all experts in their respective fields."

Among the courses she took were introduction to camping, canoeing, the beginners firearms course and archery.

Roberto says she will be back for the September session to take the second stage of firearms training.

"I would eventually like to obtain a hunting licence," she said.

Roberto also plans to take the orienteering course.

"That's important if you want to get out and look around," she said.

Wilderness survival is another avenue she intends to explore.

The 42-year-old single mom was not only impressed with the quality of the instruction, she was also appreciative of the fact that the course was kept within reason, cost-wise.

"It was very affordable," she said. "It cost $195 for three days, including all meals and accommodation. The food was outstanding. We were treated like royalty. The price is a steal."

Along with the courses, Roberto said she went home with a stack of written information a foot thick. The material augmented what she learned during the hands-on training.

"I was the only one from Dorset," she said, "but some women drove for eight hours to attend."

"Everybody I talked to had a great time," Roberto added. "I didn't hear a single negative comment."

One course that wasn't on the list, that Roberto said she would like to see added, is photography.

Roberto enjoyed the program so much, she took the time to write to all of the sponsors, thanking them for the donations they made which allowed the event to happen. She said it took her a couple of evenings to write all the letters, but it was important to her to let the sponsors know they were appreciated.

The September 13-15 Becoming an Outdoors-Woman session is expected to be even more in demand, with several new programs being offered, including panfishing for the fun of it, introduction to the Labrador retriever, waterfowl fundamentals, wetland ecology and canoe trip planning.

"There is tremendous interest in this type of program. Women are really gung-ho about outdoor activities and they're anxious to learn," adds Long, who participated in a BOW program in Texas last January.

The Becoming an Outdoors-Woman program began about five years ago at the University of Wisconsin, where Professor Christine Thomas conducted research into the disproportionately low number of women involved in outdoor recreational activities. Thomas discovered that many women were discouraged from participating by subtle but real barriers, including a lack of teachers, too few role models and social pressures that say hunting and fishing are for men only.

Through a program of women teaching women in small classes, those barriers are being replaced with a friendly, supportive and social atmosphere. Since the program's inception, it has expanded to more than 35 U.S. states, as well as Manitoba, Saskatchewan and now Ontario.

Participants have the choice of mixing and matching courses to meet their own specific interests. Hunting, fishing and camping are the three basic themes. Under the hunting section, courses include firearms handling and safety, bow handling, shotgun skills, riflery basics and Labrador retriever training, among others. Angling skills that will be taught include fishing basics, fly fishing, walleye tactics, panfishing, motor boat handling, lake ecology and fly tying. Basic camping skills, canoe trip planning, map and compass skills, wilderness survival, canoeing, and taking children outdoors are among the camping themes.

The success of the program has not gone unnoticed and major sponsorships continue to grow to include, Canadian Sporting Arms and Ammunition Association, Abu Garcia, Barnett International, Bear Archery, Berkley, Crosman and Fenwick.

The September course is expected to be a sell-out at $183 plus GST for OFAH members and 195 plus GST for non-members. Participants from the first session will be given preference, but Long says there are still a few openings. For an information package, or to register, contact Freya Long at 705-748-6324.

Minden Rotary Club equipment stolen

Minden Rotary Club president Barry Cray is steaming (see the letter to the editor titled "Rotary Ripped Off", page 9).

The Rotary Club set up a food booth at the Minden Wild Water Preserve, August 17 and 18, for the Canadian Kayak and Canoe Championships.

Some time during the Saturday night or early Sunday morning hours, someone stole the equipment the club had assembled for the fund-raiser.

Taken were an industrial four-burner grill, with two side burners, a gas barbecue, propane tanks and other equipment.

"It's pretty disgusting," Cray said, pointing out that the equipment is used for fund-raising purposes, not only by the Rotary Club, but also by other service clubs and organizations.

"The police think it was someone local," Cray said. "It may even have been someone we served on Saturday."

Cray is fearful that the equipment won't be covered by the club's insurance policy.

He said the fund-raiser couldn't have carried on for the second day of the championships if Mike Twitchin, a volunteer with the Wild Water Preserve hadn't loaned the Rotary Club two gas barbecues.

"The culprits have no conscience. They even threw the garbage down the bank," he said.

Cray appeals to anyone who knows anything about the theft of this equipment to contact the OPP.

Man charged following fatal crash in Norland

A 26 year-old Scarborough man has been charged with impaired driving causing death after a single vehicle accident at Norland early Sunday morning.

Ontario Provincial Police officials report that George Filtsos, 26, was operating a 1995 Camaro convertible, north-bound on Highway 35, at a high rate of speed. The car entered the ditch on the east side of the highway, striking a rock-face and coming to rest on its roof.

A passenger in the car, 22 year-old

Alexia Petropoulos of Scarborough, was pronounced dead at the scene by coroner Doctor A.S. Lauwers.

Filtsos was transported by ambulance to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay, where he was treated for non-life threatening injuries. He is scheduled to appear in provincial court in Lindsay on October 3.

Laxton and Bexley fire departments assisted at the scene of the accident.

Trent-Severn waterway news

At 70.5% of their normal full levels on August 19, Haliburton area lakes of the Trent-Severn Waterway were about 3.25% lower than one week ago. The present levels are very close to those of 1993, 1994 and 1995 for this date. All these years have experienced greater amounts of inflow than normal and certainly well beyond that received in 1987. On this date in 1987, the lakes were down near the 50% level already.

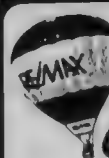

Kawartha Lakes levels held through the past week with some lakes in their navigation ranges and a few still above range. They also are still averaging higher than normal for this time of year.

Otonabee River flow is now down to about 37 cubic metres per second compared to the average for August of 32.5 cubic metres per second. Low Otonabee flows typically get down to 17 cubic metres per second during dry summers.

Lake Simcoe Couchiching is still higher than normal for this time of year and flow along the Severn River, from Couchiching to Georgian Bay is greater than normal.

MNR minister scheduled to make announcement at annual Outdoors Association meeting

Natural Resources Minister Chris Hodgson plans to make an announcement at the annual general meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association. The meeting will be held at the Dysart Community Centre (upstairs) on Sunday, September 15, starting at 1 p.m.

Guest speakers will include Chris Brousseau of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters and Mike Wilton of the MNR. Brousseau will present the latest developments in the Native land claims issue and Wilton is scheduled to talk about black bears. Those who are regulars at the Association's annual general meetings will recall Wilton's entertaining presentation on moose.

The meeting will also feature several booths of interest to outdoors enthusiasts.

New this year will be a booth with Global Positioning System (GPS) instructor Bruce Pettit. Pettit teaches courses at Sir Sandford Fleming College's school of Natural Resources.

He will be available at the annual meeting to answer questions. He said he will bring some equipment along.

Gunsmith Mike Grinell, a member of the Association, will also be among the new exhibitors at the meeting.

Representatives from the various committees within the HHOA will report on activities from the past year.

Sun shines on SLACAR fun day: Myles Nicholson scoops jelly bean guessing title

by Ken Brown

The South Lake Cottagers and Residents picnic on Saturday August 17 was true to form and blessed with a sunny day... low key, relaxed and friendly as a family outing.

Some of the 80 participants walked with their children and grandchildren to Terry and John Simpson's lovely lake-side property while others arrived by boat, each bearing deck chairs and a cheerful attitude. All came for a pleasant, fun afternoon in good company and none was disappointed. Enthusiastic kids shucked a boat load of corn in record time while our corn chef Tom Nicholson stoked the fire and heated pots of boiling water.

Alan Foxton, Social Chairman, put together a great team of volunteers to cover every wish. SLACAR president Jane Leavis did her shift at the barbecue cooking hot-dogs along with Phyllis DeGrace and Helen McKirdy. Kids of all ages were kept busy by Gail Rowett with egg tossing, sack racing and scrambles for the showers of wrapped candy.

Smooth planning... well, not quite! Picnic registrar Phyllis Brown called frantically for Bob Martin and Ray Lymer to rescue car keys locked in the trunk with jelly bean jars, membership lists, corn pans and other essentials. The two General Motors specialists saved the day.

No lakeside picnic would be a success without host John and a well organized horseshoe tournament. The distinctive clang of ringers thrown by 20 contestants resonated all afternoon through butter laden corn, hot-dogs, neighbourhood gossip and the squeals of kids breaking balloons. Jacqui McCutcheon and Ray Lymer threw the best shoes and won a bag of coins followed closely by Phyllis and Kevin DeGrace.

We even attended to civic duty with a clever fundraiser for the Lake Study Fund. This expensive effort to preserve the quality of our lake environment was given a boost by Roberta Van Belkour with her "Penny Auction"... Lucky draw tickets and attractive prizes, all provided by Roberta, launched this important project.

Colourful face painting on the kids kept Megan Rowett busy while Pat Hough demonstrated the art of bubble blowing. Myles Nicholson fell flat on the ground with excitement when his winning guess won the jelly bean contest... Leta Brady calmly picked up her prize for the mint jar guessing game.

All the while, we older guests watched the action from our deck chairs, talked and munched corn. Our thanks to the Foxtons, Simpsons and their helpers... it was a great afternoon and confirmed the sense of community of South Lake.

Health Unit plans several mouth guard clinics

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit is helping to reduce the risk of painful dental injuries by promoting the use of personal mouthguards.

To encourage mouthguard use, the Dental Department of the Health Unit will be holding mouthguard clinics to provide fitted mouthguards for area athletes. Clinics are scheduled early in September in all high schools. Appointments for mouthguard fittings can also be arranged by contacting your local Health Unit office.

"Anyone that is active in a sport that could involve a blow to the mouth should be wearing a protective mouthguard," commented Kay

Nicholas, Dental Supervisor. "Custom-made mouthguards help prevent costly, painful dental injuries."

Having a personal mouthguard is simple and inexpensive. The dental staff makes an imprint of an individual's own teeth so it fits the mouth correctly. Mouthguards are comfortable to wear and do not restrict breathing. The cost is $15.00, payable on the day of fitting.

Mouthguard Clinics will be held at:

•Haliburton Highlands Secondary School on Thursday, September 5 at 9:30 a.m.

•and at Fenelon Falls Secondary School on Tuesday, September 10 at 9:00 a.m.

The Minden and District Horticultural Society will meet on September 3 at 7:30 p.m. in Hyland Crest Auditorium. Topic "Co-Op Crops" by the Tylers of Waverley Brook Farm, Haliburton.

Good news to all you Carnarvon bowlers. I'm told that the wooden lanes have all been refinished.

The Alzheimer Society of Peterborough and Area wishes to announce that the support groups resume again in September. If you have any questions call Donna at 705-748-5131.

V.C.A.R.S. (Victim Crisis Assistance and Referral Service) of Victoria County is holding a Fashion Show Fundraiser on Wednesday September 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Ontario Government Building, 322 Kent St. W., Lindsay. Tickets are available from: Cathy-324-0395; Morag-374-5551; Lynda-887-3527 or Betty-374-4074.

Many of you noticed the article which appeared in last week's edition of The Times regarding the moth and butterfly count taking place across the country. I know many people are concerned, particularly about the drastic drop in the number of Monarch butterflies in the past few years. Marg McAfee called last week to report she had seen a Monarch butterfly near Kawartha Dairy on Highway 35. The butterfly had been injured and she helpfully moved it out of harm's way in hope that it would recover.

Forty-seven people gathered in Ingoldsby on Saturday August 17 for an afternoon and evening of games, music and feasting to celebrate a family reunion in honour of well known local resident Donald Sinclair. The guest of honor enjoyed the company of his 10 grand children and 20 great-grand children.

St. Paul's Friendship Club holds euchre parties every Monday at 1:30 p.m. Last week Marg McAfee held an outstanding number of lone hands. The high scores went to Jeanne Sears and Gladys Wruth with the low score going to Jessie Preston. The 50-50 draw was won by Marie Dennie.

Club 35 also holds euchre parties on Mondays at 7:30 p.m. Partners are not required. Last week, most lone hands was won by Margaret Fletcher, high scores by Betty Harper and Stan Walters, low scores by Edith Russell, Stan Dutka and Mary Schad. The 50-50 draw was won by Garth Windsor. Club 35 is 9 km north of Carnarvon.

Contract bridge players last Tuesday, in the Stanhope Firehall, filled 7 tables and, at last, they saw their dream come true. A grand slam was finally bid and made. Frank Schlotter and Ruth Varty did the honours. First was Earl Hayne, second Frank Schlotter and third Lisa Peirol. In addition, there were 4 small slams bid and made.

Join them every Tuesday at 1 p.m. Partners not required.

Seniors bid euchre is held at the Minden Legion every Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. and last week Iris Taylor was first, Marcel Rousselle second and Ida Young third. Jack Chilton had the hidden score while Verna McDonald captured two moonshots and Shirley Elcome one moonshot. The gang welcomed first time player Gertrude Ripley and she dazzled them all by capturing a moonshot.

Bid euchre is also played in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall each Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. On August 14, Ken Young had 318, Percy Kinsey 308, Vicki Campagnolo 297, Jim Skinner 295, Loretta Lamb 285 and Pearl Foster 261. There were seven moonshots. On August 21, Ken Young led the leader board again with 353, Ida Young 302, Jean Scadden 283, Maxine McCrowne 279, Eleanor Smith 278 and Gala Stamp 274. There were also seven moonshots played.

On August 15, euchre was played in the Minden Legion and the most lone hands went to Ellen Holden and Helen Henderson. High scores were taken by Marg Fletcher and Tod Edgson and low scores by Jean Scadden and Jim Woodcock. Prizes were also given to Orval Francis, Elli Langpohl, Roy McDonald, Vina Dredge and Sherin Brown. These folks meet every Thursday at 7:15 p.m.

I'm sorry but I will be away this week. Please call The Times direct (286-1288) with your articles for the September 3 issue, or drop them off at the office. Please do so by noon, Thursday August 29. Articles received by the paper after this time will be held for me for the September 9 issue. Thanks for your cooperation.

Minden Lake Association corn roast/annual meeting

by Francine Newton

The Minden Lake Ratepayers Association held its annual meeting on Saturday August 17. After a short meeting, everyone enjoyed the corn roast under perfect conditions.

We had hoped to see more people out, but speaking for those who were able to attend, a good time was had by all.

I was especially glad to meet a new family, the Mikolich's. They have three sons who would like to meet other young people on the lake.

I also have a petition to keep the OPP in Minden. I would like to get as many people as possible to sign it. If I don't call you, please call me at 286-3673. Every signature helps.

The Campaign may be over but...

CARDS OF THANKS

Jim and Jean Fairfield wish to thank all their friends and relatives for such a wonderful 50th Anniversary Party on Saturday, August 10 at our home in Gravenhurst. Thanks for the cards, gifts and goodies. It was a very special day and one we will always remember. God Bless, Jim and Jean.

I would like to thank my friends and family for all the lovely cards, gifts and flowers and for coming to my party which made it such a success. Thanks to my family for putting on the party and thanks for the beautiful cake. Thank you too to all the people who prayed for me and to the Lord who made it possible for me to be there. God Bless you all. Pearl Barry.

Vivian Green, Cy's sister and I would like to thank our families and friends for all the support they gave us in so many ways at the time of Cy's death. Thanks to Dr. Wu, Dr. Manmohansingh, the staff at the Minden Hospital, the nurses in the I.C.U. at Ross Memorial Hospital and the ambulance staff for the care they gave Cy. Rev. Peter Walford-Davis, Barbara Walford-Davis, Catherine Kellett, the Minden United Church choir and the many friends present made the memorial service special. Thanks to the U.C.W. for providing refreshments following the service. Thanks to Gordon Monk and family for their caring and continued assistance. The flower arrangements were lovely. Words just can't express the pleasure they brought. Thanks to all who made donations in memory of Cy. When you ask God for a gift, be thankful if He sends not diamonds, pearls and riches but the love of real true friends. Gala F. Heal.

CARDS OF THANKS

Stanhope Firemen once more showed their true colours of eagerness and willingness when they responded to our call for help in the early hours of August 9th. Being the closest, John Hogg arrived within minutes, bag in hand. The other smiling faces followed momentarily and within minutes the man of the house was on the stretcher, enroute to hospital with Ambulance Service. Thank you Paula for being so alert so early and spending those hours with my family and myself. Thank you Gentlemen. A Very Appreciate Resident.

Missing Husky X - I am safe at home. A very special thank you to Rick and his family who found me and took care of me. Thank you also to Marilyn Crane and Helen Greenfield who helped Rick to locate my owner. To Mr. Bob Anderson and son-in-law of Wilberforce who took the time to call when they thought I was the dog they had found. My owner gave me a great big hug on my return and then a big lecture on the dangers of running away. Thank you again to all concerned in helping me return to my home safely. Lady, Essonville Road.

IN MEMORIAM

SISSON - In loving memory of my wife, Audrey, who entered her eternal and heavenly home on August 30, 1985. Ecclesiastes 3: 1,2,4,12. To every thing there is a season A purpose to be born and to die, designed for a reason A time to plant and to pluck up the seed To show our love by giving to those in need. There is a time to weep, to laugh and to mourn At the loss of our loved one our world is torn. We have the Gift of Life, given to us by God And we are to rejoice in Life as we turn the sod. Loved and remembered by your life here upon this earth of which I was a part, your husband, Wesley.

SISSON - In loving memory of my mom, Audrey, who went to her eternal home on August 30, 1985. Life is but a mist, we are here today, gone tomorrow As we travel through this world of joy and sorrow We never really enjoy what we have until it is gone And we seldom say "I love you" to our loved one when day is done. Life is special and our loved ones we should cherish As we keep our eye on the Saviour, so you will not perish. As parents, an example you ought to your children be To guide and teach them of their Eternal Destiny. "Life is a mist, life is special, life is our parents who love us and give of themselves for their children!" Loved and never forgotten, daughter Ruth, son-in-law Everett and grandchildren Colin and Michelle.
